jour-ney'd to-ge-ther so long, sweet-heart, That it's sad to be part-ed now; When your

9

locks that were brown as the chest-nut, once, Are white as the drift-ed snow; You've

13

borne all my bur-dens with me, sweet-heart, Through

Tristamente

15

all that has come and gone, And it pains me to leave you to 18

bear them now, To bear them the rest of the 20

jour - ney a - lone, To bear them the rest of the jour - ney a - lone, To bear them a - lone, all a - lone, all a - lone.

23
